

DAILY RECORD

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1873.

THERE was a little parliamentary discussion in the Florida Senate the other day, in the course of which the President of the term, was knocked down by a honorably born local reporter. The President actually flew into pieces, his wig, glass eye, and false teeth being scattered over the Senate Chamber. He asked time to collect himself, which was granted.

An Italian chemist has given the world a new acid, which he terms the "Amidomono-horo-benzenesulphonic." Scientists generally endeavor to avoid referring to it in ordinary conversation.

The New York Herald says Gen. Butler has a heavy bill of damages against his accusers, and he will not forget them.

FOURTEEN indictments have been found against the Captain of the Sunrise for his cruelty at sea.

The Fair of the Stanislaus County Agricultural Society opened at Modesto Wednesday, October 8th.
